GOING TO FRISCO.

To Investigate Discrimination Against Japanese School Children.

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Roosevelt last night directed Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the department of commerce and labor to proceed to San Francisco and make complete inquiry into the situation affecting the exclusion of Japanese children from the schools provided for white children and the determination to place Japanese pupils in separate schools. The president is anxious to obtain full information affecting the subject to the end that whatever action is taken by the government may be after an accurate understanding of the situation. The determination was a result of the request made by Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador.

This request was discussed at the cabinet meeting yesterday when the decision was reached to send Mr. Metcalf to California. The dispatch of a cabinet officer on such a mission, it was argued, would demonstrate to the Japanese the evident sincerity of this government in dealing with the whole subject and its desire to show that every effort is being made to get at the facts.

VERMONTERS
IN TRAGEDYDouble Shooting in New York
Hotel Last Night

"MR. AND MRS. SINCLAIR"

Bodies Found Late Last Night and in Hand of Man Was Clutched 38-Calibre Revolver—Not Accounted for in Burlington.

New York, Oct. 27.—Murder and self-destruction apparently ended last night, the lives of a man and woman registering at the Hotel Grifon as Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair of Burlington, Vt. The couple came to the hotel early yesterday and last night their bodies were found in the room assigned to them. The woman had been shot through the head and the man in the stomach.

Little is known of the couple, although the had been frequent guests at the house and nothing in their effects served to identify them further than they were known to the hotel employees.

They appeared at the hotel Thursday and asked for especially comfortable accommodations, as they were to be in town for several days. Both were fashionably dressed, but their baggage consisted of a grip only. After an examination of several suitcases, they chose a room on the third floor and soon afterwards left the hotel, saying that they would return in the evening.

However, they did not appear until yesterday morning, when they had breakfast and retired to the room. Soon afterwards the woman rang for stationery, which was sent to her room. An hour later the woman, carrying several letters, left the hotel, returning a few minutes later and going to her room. The two had lunch in the public dining room. They then spent an hour in the parlor, after which the man ordered a quart of wine sent to their room.

At the same time he told the clerk to call him at ten o'clock last evening, as he rather expected a telegram summoning him out of town. Accompanied by his wife the man then went to his room, and the two were not seen alive again.

At ten o'clock last night a maid was sent to her room and receiving no reply to her rap on the door notified other hotel employees, who thought they detected the sound of someone groaning inside the room and forced the door. Both guests were apparently dead when found.

The body of the woman was stretched across the table. It was partially dressed and blood was flowing from a fresh wound in the breast. The form of the man lay in front of the dresser. There was a bullet hole in his mouth and a 38-calibre revolver was clutched in his right hand. Nothing in the room indicated a struggle. The grip lay near the bed, unopened and the bottle half filled with wine had been placed on the mantel. The man was about 55 years of age with iron gray hair and mustache. The woman was probably 35 years old and a brunette.

On her left hand she wore a diamond ring.

Not Accounted for in Burlington.

Burlington, Oct. 27.—The Burlington directory gives four Sinclairs, Mrs. A. M. of 457 Colchester avenue, Frank O. J. Fisher, George A. Knapp, W. E. Poirer, George S. of 457 Colchester avenue and Jesse H. of 106 Colchester avenue.

F. O. Sinclair stated this morning that her husband had left for Woodstock yesterday noon; that George Sinclair was on a deer hunting trip and that she had received a message from him only yesterday. She did not know of any other Sinclairs of this city who were away from home. Considering these facts, it would seem that the persons in the above tragedy either did not come from Burlington or were assuming names.

ELKS IN BURNT CORK.

Sorted Big Success in Montpelier Last Night.

The first public attempt of the members of Montpelier Lodge of Elks to give a local entertainment proved most successful last evening, when the Elks minstrels held the boards at Blanchard opera house. Montpelier before an audience that filled every available seat. It is not exaggeration to say it was one of the best musical entertainments ever given in Montpelier by local talent.

The features of the show were too many to give in time to rescue the evening. The minstrels were apparently dead when found.

The body of the woman was stretched across the table. It was partially dressed and blood was flowing from a fresh wound in the breast. The form of the man lay in front of the dresser. There was a bullet hole in his mouth and a 38-calibre revolver was clutched in his right hand. Nothing in the room indicated a struggle. ## "When the Harvest Days Are Over."

Five plays come as highly recommended as "When the Harvest Days Are Over," which will be presented at the opera house Monday, October 29th. It is under the direction of Mr. Nell Twomey. The story is said to be a very probable one and interesting from start to finish. The comedy is rich and possesses a good deal of originality. Felix Haney, who is starring in this play, has the entire knowledge and extra words of praise. As Rex Hunkins he is said to be doing the best work of what has been a highly successful career, and his singing of Her Hunkins, the village cut-up, demands nightly seven and eight encores. Mr. Twomey has had the entire scenic production built and painted by recognized artists and has selected a cast which is in keeping with his star.

Among today's arrivals at the City hotel are J. D. Farrell, Troy, N. Y.; W. F. Spear, G. S. Gichens and F. D. Thompson, Boston.

STRANGE TALE
OF TRAVELSBellows Falls Man Turns Up
Unexpectedly

WAS THOUGHT DROWNED

K. H. Waldron Says He Cannot Account for His Wanderings—He Has Grown Thin and Nervous in Absence.

Bellows Falls, Oct. 27.—Karl E. Waldron, the Bellows Falls photographer who disappeared last summer and for whom search was kept up for weeks, appeared at his parent's home in Winchester, N. H., yesterday afternoon. When he disappeared from Bellows Falls his clothes were found on the bank of the Connecticut river and it was generally supposed that he was drowned while bathing. On reaching home yesterday he could give no connected story of his absence saying that he had been in Massachusetts. He appeared to be dazed and is apparently suffering from mental disease.

Waldron's story to friends in this city was that he did go in swimming on the day he left Bellows Falls, and that when he struck the water was the last thing he remembered until July 7, when he came to himself and found that he was walking on the railroad track a short distance from Biddeford, Me., with nothing on but a pair of overalls and a jumper.

As he recovered from his dazed condition the first thing he heard was a farmer beside the track asking him if he did not want to work. Hardly knowing what he was doing, he went into the farmer's house and ate a good meal, after which he hired out to him. From that time until a few days ago he stayed on the farm, and having become used to health, decided to try and reach home. The farmer gave him $18 and with this amount he went to Biddeford, bought a suit of clothes and took the train, intending to ride as far as his money would take him and walk the remainder of the way.

Hearing that there was a tannery in Peabody, Mass., he decided to go there and try and get work, and on Wednesday morning arrived there without a cent in his pockets, tired and hungry. He went to a hotel and there met two young men whom he knew in Winchester. He at once told them his story and they called up his people in Winchester on the telephone and told them that they had found their son. Waldron's father sent word back to bring him home as soon as possible and yesterday noon Waldron and a friend arrived in Keene, taking the 9:35 train for Forest Lake. Waldron preferred to get off there rather than face those who might gather at the Winchester station anticipating his arrival.

Waldron says he cannot account for his wanderings and does not see how he lived during the time he was out of his head, for he remembered nothing. His experience has told on him, for he has grown thin and nervous. He is about 26 years old.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB

IS WELL RECEIVED

Believes That Vermont Legislature Is Not So Badly Disposed Toward the Motor Car.

The annual meeting of the Vermont Automobile club was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Pavilion hotel at Montpelier. During the forenoon several members of the club, in an individual capacity, appeared before the general committee of the House of Representatives to discuss the automobile legislation. They were very pleasantly impressed with the reception given them and with the apparent attitude of this committee in regard to drastic automobile legislation. The gentlemen who appeared before this committee and the members of the committee were agreed that any urgent or drastic automobile legislation is not needed as it was two and four years ago, because the horses of the state are gradually getting accustomed to motor cars.

The Automobile club has a present membership of 137. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, C. A. Harris of Brattleboro; vice presidents, E. A. Brodie of Burlington, F. D. Ladd of Barre; secretary and treasurer, George E. White of Montpelier. Following the formal business of the meeting various matters of interest to automobile owners were discussed.
